HILLDALE JERRY x — The grand old man of Sweet Home is still doing well at 16 years, although he no longer runs with the cows. J. W. Bennett sold him at a production sale to C. E. Jones, who brought him to the upper ranch on Big Elk. There were more than 100 cows there and also two red, horned bulls. When the calves arrived they were 80% polled and roan, Jerry's two trademarks. After two years of service on the upper ranch, Jerry came to Sweet Home. In the succeeding years he has sired many bulls and females of great quality. Sons and grandsons sell together with many females featuring his bloodlines. This is true outcross blood for the best of herds if they really are intent on breeding bigger and better cattle that retain quality.

ABOUT THE BIG ELK CONSIGNORS

The consignors to the Big Elk Sale are as fine a group of people as you would ever want to meet. Fads and fancies don't thrill them much. They are basically sound cattlemen who make their living from their Shorthorns and they're proud of the fact.

Perhaps since they live in somewhat remote areas of the Pacific Northwest, it has been easier for them to avoid the extremes of the showring that lead others to difficulty. At any rate, these folks have good big cattle now . . . and they've had them for years.

If you don't know them, sale time is a great time to get acquainted. You'll find them friendly, thoughtful and ready to sell sound cattle that will provide a profit for both the buyer and the seller.

In most of these herds, the Shorthorns are a family project. The children know the pedigrees as well as Dad, and they'll be glad to answer any of your questions.

If at all possible, make this sale your vacation trip. The scenery should be beautiful in the magnificent Pacific Northwest in early autumn. Try to visit as many of the herds as possible on their home ground.

These are the good folks who'll be your hosts on September 25:

Bert Kessi, Sweet Home Ranch, Burnt Woods, Ore.

Cox and Cox, Nespelem, Wash.

Woodrow Black, Junction City, Ore.

Thomas Bishop, Rock Creek, British Columbia, Canada.

Ivan Kropf, Molalla, Ore.

David Kessi, Harlan, Ore.

R. Lee Taber, Portland, Ore.

Galem Holmly, Salem, Ore.

Phillip Jackson, Sweet Home, Ore.

IMPORTANT THINGS YOU SHOULD

Nestled between the highest mountains in the Coast Range of Oregon, lies the beautiful little valley of Sweet Home Creek. It looks much the same today as it did when the first Shorthorns arrived in 1896.

The present proprietor of Sweet Home Ranch is Donald Z. Kessi whose grandfather moved to the Big Elk country in 1910. It has been the family home ever since.

Sweet Home Ranch has one of the toughest ranges you will find anywhere. It is comprised of about 20 sections of land in an area roughly eight miles long by three miles wide. Single trees have been logged off from which came more than enough lumber for an entire three bedroom house. It takes a real bull to do his job on a range like this.

Main stock bull at Sweet Home is still Hilldale Jerry x which is going strong at 16 years. One summer some years ago, it was decided to leave Jerry at the home ranch instead of putting him with the main herd on Grass Mountain. Two days later he was at the top of the mountain, too. He made the 11-mile trip to 4,000-foot elevation easily and alone.

When David Kessi was 12, he was given a little red orphan heifer as his club project. The calf grew to be one of the biggest we have ever seen. She consistently brought home the purple ribbons for her young master who had named her Sweet Home Lassie. She is the foundation of Sweet Home's best cow family, one of which sells September 25.

Many changes have come to the Coast Mountains since the log cabin was built on Sweet Home Creek, and some have come to the high valley, but the roan Durham cows of Sweet Home Ranch are still the biggest.

D. Z. KESSI ON COW SIZE:

"Donald and I have looked at most of the Shorthorn herds in the United States that are famed for size. Without exception, we were very impressed with the size and quality we found in these herds in comparison to herds where progress had not been made in that direction. We hear a statement, so often repeated nowadays, 'Size in itself is of no value.' The evidence seems to point to the fact that in herds where attainment of size has not been a major goal in the last ten years, there has been no concrete direction of endeavor except the reading of pedigrees.

"While we have no dual purpose blood in our cattle we certainly are not prejudiced against it. We think that the Haumonts of Nebraska have done an invaluable service to the Shorthorn breed in this country.

"The Shorthorns of the Northwest 30 years ago were, in general, very large cattle. It is this kind of stock that our foundation is built upon. When Ira Cox was looking at a picture of one of our Lassie cows he asked, 'How many extra ribs has that cow got, anyway?'

"Typical of these cattle are big, broad, strong backs, with very long stretch, lots of height, but they fill down well and are very strong in the heart girth, with tremendous legs and feet. These are the kind of cattle that were driven into the country by early settlers. Many of these were purebred Shorthorns.

Tony x is shown with Donnie Kessie at Sweet Home Ranch. The calf is by Bobo x and is a preview of the 1972 sale offering.

KNOW ABOUT SWEET HOME

"Our foundation stock came from such herds as G. E. Berchard, very famous in the old days for great size; Leech and Roscoe; H. E. Brown; Broughton; Dunn, and others. Also the first cows we got from Cox and Cox were of this same type, especially those sired by N-Bar Research which was one of the greatest bulls I ever saw.

"We have been often questioned about our breeding program, 'Why do you use your own bulls all the time?' We buy many bulls and only use the best of those we buy, but so far we only keep the calves from our own bulls because we cannot and will not sacrifice the traits mentioned above that make our cattle great. We have been very fortunate with the Lassie cow family and Hilddale Jerry x in that these families line-breed well without deterioration and other genetic problems.

"These big cattle usually retain smoothness even when fat and they do not have excessive brisket so common to many strains.

"Further these big cattle live long, useful lives. Sweet Home Lassie was due to calve about 30 days after she drowned at age 18. Hilddale Jerry x is still going strong and will be 16 years of age this October 3, 1971, after hardships that would kill many younger cattle.

"Many folks these days go out and buy a big, good bull, breed him to Scotch cows and get mostly what they already have. The reason of course is the bull himself has lots of little stuff behind him and breeding to small cows, he doesn't have a chance. Our stock is big all the way back. That's why our foundation cows and our stock bulls should do much better. We are confident that most of the yearling heifers we are selling will be as big or bigger than their mothers and should do well for their new owners.

"We are very proud indeed to present to our customers this group of Sweet Home bulls. These are not tailenders from our bull business. We have kept most of these with this sale in mind over quite a period of time so we have the bulls that will leave their stamp of growth and strength on herds wherever they go. We have sold many half-brothers of these in the last two years that were not quite as good as most of these and, of course, a few that were.

"Selling are three groups, sons of Hilddale Jerry x, grandsons of Hilddale Jerry x and, last but not least, good bulls of other breeding. If they had not been good bulls we wouldn't have bought them."

SWEET HOME CARCASSES SUPERIOR

Mr. Bert Kessi
Sweet Home Ranch
Burnt Woods, Oregon
Dear Mr. Kessi:

In regard to your request, the waste fat and bones from the beef carcass you delivered here was 147 pounds. The carcass itself weighed 618 pounds dressed. I am sure this waste would have been several pounds higher had the customer not requested me to completely bone out the front quarter.

After processing several carcasses of beef grown on your ranch, I feel compelled to say that the texture and marbeling of the beef is a very high quality. The yield is from three to five steaks more per cut than the average beef animal.

In my 35 years experience as a meat cutter, I believe these animals are the best I have ever processed.

Yours truly,

WELCOME TO YOU ALL!

I take great pleasure in this opportunity on behalf of the consignors in the Big Elk Shorthorn Sale to extend a hearty invitation to our former customers of Western Oregon and Washington and to the personnel of Four Dees Farms, Allerton, Ill., to be with us once more at our 1971 sale on September 25th, at the Oregon State Fairgrounds, Salem, Oregon.

You good folks not only made this a prominent display and sale of good Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn cattle in the Northwest, but also nationwide.

Also we owe Jim Westfall much for his valuable help which no doubt made our first sale, particularly, such a great success.

This year, through the good help of Mr. Harris Simons of "The Shorthorn World," we are proud to extend this invitation to all breeders and fanciers of Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn cattle everywhere.

Shorthorn cattle built the cattle industry in the West. When Dr. Glen, who operated a vast estate in the Sacramento Valley south of Red Bluff, sent Pete French into southeastern Oregon to establish a cattle kingdom, he outfitted him with 50 bulls and 1,500 purebred Shorthorn heifers. Pete French soon became "cattle king" of Oregon.

Ben Snipes, whose operation extended from his home in The Dalles clear into Kamloops, B.C., started out with purebred Shorthorn heifers that he bought in Amity, Ore.

And so the story of the West goes. The early Shorthorns were big cattle. I would like to call your attention briefly to the well-known truth: "It was the Shorthorn cow that made the whiteface popular."

As the Shorthorn became smaller, their numbers dwindled until they were almost crowded off the range. Here and there you may still find a herd of large Shorthorns. Largely from these herds of large Shorthorn cattle come the consignments to this sale. These cattle are range raised, are not highly fitted, but come in their working clothes. They are the kind that range men have to have and the kind that will make a living for their owners. Bulls from these big Shorthorn cows are in great demand in the western range country today.

Bulls from these herds have already proved their superiority in the desert range country of Eastern Oregon and Nevada where bulls of all breeds often go to pieces and may even die.

We wish you folks a happy time at the sale and I assure you that we are very desirous of becoming friends and hearing about your cattle also.

We are quite sure you will like what you see here, and wish you great success in what you buy.

Thank you,

Bert Kessi

STANDARD GUARANTEE

Recommended by American Shorthorn Association

- A. Proper care must be given by purchaser to protect breeding qualities and health of guaranteed animals.
- B. All bulls are guaranteed breeders, provided they are not allowed to run with the herd when under 20 months of age. In case of failure of a bull to be a breeder, notice shall be given to the seller within six months of date of purchase, or by the time the bull is 20 months of age, if purchased under 14 months of age.
- C. With the exception of heifers sold under 14 months of age, all females are guaranteed breeders. Heifers under two years of age, shall not be served by a heavy or old bull. Cows or heifers sold as bred, or safe in calf, not proving to be in calf must be reported to the seller within three months after date of sale. Females over 14 months of age sold open, not selling within six months after date of sale, shall be promptly reported to the seller.
- D. When an animal fails to comply with the above guarantee the seller has the option of substituting an animal of equal value to the satisfaction of the purchaser, or of having the animal returned for a trial for a period not to exceed six months. The expense of a freight in such case is to be paid by the seller. If the animal is then proved to be a breeder beyond doubt it shall be returned to the purchaser at his expense. In case of dispute the return of the full purchase price, without interest, to the buyer will be considered full settlement and satisfaction to all claims. No charge for feed or maintenance shall be made by either buyer or seller. Salvage shall go to the seller. It shall be understood that the same guarantee given for the first animal shall likewise apply to any animal later substituted.
- E. In the event an animal is returned by the buyer to the seller a non-breeder the buyer must furnish to the seller a veterinarian's certificate showing that his herd is healthy if such a certificate is required by the seller.
